

QPR SOFTWARE PLC REMUNERATION REPORT 2021

INTRODUCTION

The reporting and transparency requirements for listed companies increased with the new EU Shareholder Rights Directive (SHRD) and the revised Finnish Corporate Governance Code 2020. QPR's Remuneration Policy was renewed to comply with these regulations, and it was approved in the Annual General Meeting in June 2020.

The goal of the Remuneration Policy is to define a framework for remuneration that supports achieving the Company's growth strategy, long-term financial success, and shareholder value creation. The Remuneration Policy also helps to recruit and retain competent executives and Board members to the Company.

In 2021, there were no deviations from the remuneration policy, nor any clawbacks of remuneration. Pursuant to the new Finnish Corporate Governance Code 2020 for Listed Companies published by the Finnish Securities Market Association, the remuneration report from the financial year 2021 is the second to be presented in the Annual General Meeting for advisory vote. Any actions arising from the advisory vote will be considered and reported in the remuneration report of 2022.

Principles and management of remuneration

Remuneration of board members is decided at the Annual General Meeting based on the proposal by the largest Shareholders. The Board decides on the compensation principles of top management and decides and approves the terms and conditions of the CEO's employment in writing. The Board annually approves the personnel incentive scheme. Whether shares, options, or other benefits entitling to shares can be offered as part of remuneration, the Board decides pursuant to the authority agreed upon in the Annual General Meeting.

According to the key principles of remuneration, remuneration must lead to competitive total remuneration, where variable pay components are aligned with the Company's strategy and shareholder value. The development of the Company and its long-term shareholder value must significantly impact remuneration.

The Remuneration Policy has been prepared to follow the remuneration principles applicable to all employees of QPR Software. This is reflected, for example, in the performance criteria of the bonus program, which are derived from the Company's strategy, and are in part common between the CEO and other employees. However, the variable components constitute a more significant portion of the CEO's total remuneration compared to the average remuneration of QPR Software's employees, since the Company aims for a particularly strong link between the CEO's remuneration and the Company's performance.

These principles have been adopted in remuneration decisions in 2021.

For incentive purposes, the Company has a bonus program that covers all employees. The short-term remuneration of top management consists of salary, fringe benefits, and a possible annual bonus based mainly on the sales performance of the Group and business unit. Furthermore, the Company launched a key employee stock option plan in 2019.

The table below shows how the remuneration paid to the members of the Board of Directors and the CEO has developed over the past five financial years, compared to the development of the average remuneration of employees and the company's financial development during the same period (2017–2020). In 2021, the company had two different CEOs.
